10 CENTS

PALMER NAMED STREET SUPT.

Robert Palmer, 3 Canal Street, a fifteen year employee of the Wilmington Highway Department has been named Superintendent, by Town Manager Sterling Morris. Palmer will take over his new post on April 30, on the retirement of James White.

Palmer is a 1953 graduate of Wilmington High School, and, except for his first month, a life-long resident of Wilmington. He was first hired by former Town Manager Dean Cushing, in 1951, but then left for service in the Infantry, US Army.

On his return he went back to work for the Highway Department 'for a few months' and has been there ever since.

The new position will pay $9100 a year, including longevity pay.

Married to the former Jane Randall, the couple have four children.

Palmer, who is the son of Douglas Palmer of Forest Street, was appointed Superintendent with the understanding that if in the future a Town Manager of Wilmington decides to have a Department of Public Works his position as Supt. of Streets will be resigned.

HIGH SCHOOL LIBRARY
COFFEE HOUR TOMORROW

Wilmington High School's Library will conduct a Coffee Hour tomorrow, from 9:30 am to 11 am, in honor of National Library Week. The Coffee Hour is to celebrate National Library Week.

Mrs Virginia Erickson, Librarian, will be the hostess.

THE WORK WAS SLOW: Last Saturday, as the Volunteer Drainage Committee worked its way upstream from Revah Brook towards Westdale Avenue. The crew cleared out about 800 feet of the stream and canal. The toughest part was the removing of Cat-of-Nine-Tails, which were growing in a heavy concentration of grass. Once removed the stream bed tends to become self-clearing.

The gang got to a point about 150 feet from Westdale Avenue. Ten Boy Scouts are in this picture - can you find them?

The committee will try a two-shift operation this week, one gang starting at Wildwood Street, and working towards the High School, and starting at 9 am. The second gang is to report at 1 pm and take up where the first gang ended. All Volunteers are Welcome!

OUT OF TOWN CARS AND TRUCKS NOT WANTED: At the Wilmington Town Dump, Officer Herbert Colby is one of several Wilmington Police who have been stationed at the Town Dump in the past few days by the Board of Health, to keep out-of-towners away. Many nearby towns are having dump problems, and not allowing their own residents to use their dumps. Colby turned away half a dozen trucks, in one day.

He is shown talking with William Lena, of Burt Road, who, being a Wilmington resident, was allowed to proceed.

DOG DAYS ON MAY 4

The Dogs of Wilmington will have their day, on May 4th.

The Wilmington Board of Health will be holding its annual clinic, for the immunization of dogs, at the building of the Fire Department, on Church Street. The clinic will start at 1 pm and last until 4 pm.

Dr. Harvey Skolnick will be in charge. The fee will be $1.25.

The Board of Health says that all dogs, licensed or not, should be immunized.

SENATOR MacKENZIE
NIGHT ON MAY 10th

A Senator Ronald MacKenzie Night is planned, for May Tenth, at the Colonial Statler Hilton Hotel, on Route 128, starting at 8:30 pm and lasting until 1 am.

Flip Wilson, well known Comedian, will appear, and there will be music for dancing by Dick Madison and his orchestra. The admission price will be $20 per couple. Tickets are in charge of Roy Syvertson, 658-8675.

ON APRIL 30th, VOTE

McCarthy

FOR PRESIDENT

How to Vote for McCarthy:

1. If you are a Democrat, mark your ballot for McCarthy.
2. If you are an Independent, ask for a Democratic ballot and mark it for McCarthy.
3. If you are a Republican, write in Senator McCarthy's name in the area indicated on your ballot. You may simply write 'McCarthy'.

THE HILLER WEDDING

The Town Crier reported a week ago that the old bell of St. Thomas Church had not been claimed in time to save it for the townspeople, when the old church was torn down.

The Town Crier was wrong. Unknown to this paper, or to officials in the Town Hall, Carl Gubellini, Chairman of the Board of Library Trustees, had already put a claim on it, for St. Thomas Church.

Selectmen Banda and Miceli were told last Thursday that the bell was in the builder's yard, in Dedham, and that it and the corner stone would be returned.

The bell was given to St. Thomas Church by Mrs. Dr. Frances B. Hiller, the famed "Casket Lady" of the last century.

It was seventy five years ago in March that Mrs. Hiller was married for the third time, in the then new St. Thomas Church, a marriage that was reported all over the country, and perhaps in foreign countries too.

Many accounts have been written of Mrs. Hiller and her third husband, born Peter Surrette. In this issue the Town Crier is reproducing some of the accounts that appeared in Boston papers seventy five years ago, some from the Boston Globe, and some from papers unidentified.

Peter Surrette was born in Nova Scotia, and is said to have seen Wilmington for the first time as a very young man, when he drove a herd of cattle through town from Nashau, on its way to the Brighton abbatoir. And the local stories would have the reader believe that he was barefoot at the time.

He later returned to Wilmington and was employed as a Coachman by Mrs. Dr. Hiller. He was 19 years old, over six feet tall, and had a handsome mustach, and after a couple of years of widowhood Mrs. Dr. Hiller announced that she was marrying him.

He changed his name to Henry Hiller, the name of her late husband, so that she would not have to change hers.

BIT OF ROMANCE.

married Mar 15th 1892

Mrs. Hiller's Hand and Fortune Won.

On Easter Sunday Will Re-Enter State of Matrimony.

Her Coachman Will be the Happy Groom.

Changes His Name from Surrette to Hiller.

Madam Asked It to Perpetuate the Family Name.

Mrs. Frances B. Hiller of burial casket fame is preparing to re-enter the holy n of matrimony.

She will be married Easter Sunday by Rev. Father Ryan at the Catholic church in Wilmington.

The Globe has this important information on absolutely unimpeachable authority.

Although no public announcement of the engagement has yet been made, this plain and specific statement of the case is rendered imperative by the numerous stories which have been circulated and gained general credence in Wilmington and the surrounding bailiwicks.

The gentleman whose fortune it is to gain the heart and hand of the wealthy widow is none other than Mr. Henry Hiller (nee Peter Surrette), her accomplished and urbane coachman.

Dame Rumor has for weeks past associated the names of Mrs. Hiller and her coachman, taking it for granted that the recent change of M. Surrette's name to Henry Hiller, the identical name which the now sainted Dr. Hiller had borne, foreshadowed the approaching nuptials.

Naturally enough, the widow is averse to all publicity, deeming it but right that her private affairs should be sacred and shielded from all intrusion. It was on this account, and this alone, after long contemplation, that she finally consented to let the truth be known, and so set all rumors at rest.

"Do you know," she said, "I am all alone in the world. I have neither kith nor kin. I wanted some one to look after my property and my interests and

To Perpetuate My Name.

Our engagement dates back a considerable time. It was to perpetuate my name that I had Mr. Surrette's name changed to Hiller."

MRS. HILLER'S HUSBAND.

HENRY HILLER was a fine looking man, over six feet tall. This pen and ink drawing was made at about the time of the wedding, 75 years ago.

This change of name, it may be remarked parenthetically, was effected Feb. 14, at a Probate Court holden at Cambridge, in and for the county of Middlesex, it appearing to Judge Brooks that the reason given therefor was sufficient and consistent with the public interest, and no objection being made, and all being done in accordance with the statutes in such case made and provided.

Mr. Hiller the second is a strong, robust man, with regular features and a pleasant, quiet temperament. Indeed, he is the picture of health and strength.

Born and reared in the provinces, he speaks the English language, though not very fluently, but is a master of the French. Although 30 years of age, he would pass for a much younger man.

Mr. Hiller has not been the only suitor of Mrs. Hiller.

In fact, soon after the decease of Dr. Hiller she was beset by a score, which gradually multiplied into a horde, to each and all of whom she gave a negative reply, until at last she met her destiny.

There is a tinge of romance connected with the case, for which THE GLOBE itself may take some credit. It dates back to a period shortly after the death of Dr. Henry Hiller.

At that time THE GLOBE published an article in relation to Mrs. Hiller, her property and other details connected therewith. It so happened that a copy of the paper fell into the hands of Mr. Surrette at his home in Canada. Impulsively he remarked to his family that he proposed that he was deeply interested.

Seeing the Widow,

Despite all argument to the contrary, he left his arm and his friends and came to Wilmington. Not for months afterward was Mrs. Hiller apprised that such an individual existed.

Finally he secured employment on her estate, and gradually, by faithful service, won her confidence and esteem. Esteem gradually gave place to friendship, and friendship to love. The outcome was the proposal, made with all the fervor of his warm nature.

So much for the engagement. Another matter which has set the tongues of gossip wagging in Wilmington and North Woburn is the persistent and accurate

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to extend my sincere thanks to all my Neighbors and Friends, for their Prayers, Cards, Flowers, Visits and Best Wishes, during my stay in the hospital.

Nosey Nancy

Send your announcements to Nancy, Box 208, Wilmington, or call 657-7141, or after five, 658-4865. If I'm not there, I'll call you.

Had a real cute postcard from John Stanley this week from overseas. He says, after dating it April 11, 'Dear Nosey, Would have dropped you a line sooner but the local PX was out of postcards. When in need, improvise. Keep the faith, John.'

What's so cute about all of this is that John is a member of the Signal Corps, and because he couldn't find a card, he took the card off some combat rations and decorated it up. His message is neatly inscribed on the address side, like a postcard, and on the picture side of the card are MEAL COMBAT INDIVIDUAL Ham and Lima Beans, B-2 Unit.

(That really is fun, John... I'm glad you couldn't find a card!)

Speaking of postcards, the boys have done extremely well this last few weeks, and the board is really worthwhile stopping in at the Depot to look at. Lots of them have sent more than one, like Ronnie Park. Ron keeps us on his list and when new ones come in, then he sends us some. That's great, fellas.

That display will be up at the Depot of the afghans on account of Nellie has been busy and so have I this week. However, we'll have it up by the end of the week. Nellie gave me ten to display and they are really lovely. By the way, folks, yarn we need; we're out completely. Get with your telephone and your friends, and let's have some more. Got plenty of knitters, but we're all out of the goods. We need help from you and you and you... Come on now... I'll be around all of next week, I expect! If you're having a hard time delivering your messages, it's because I'm at the International Readers Association Convention in the War Memorial Auditorium during the days this week, so see you all next week, and the column should be longer.

While talking with Dapper Harold McKelvey this week, discovered that I didn't really give the family the credit that was really due them on their trip to Florida. It seems that Myrtle is quite the gal with the fishing rod, and she hooked a good many while she was down there.

Harold is also warning that the Eames Street Bridge is a hazard to the Town. Seems that he and the Chief nearly had a collision on it last week. (Guess we all know it, Harold, but there just doesn't seem to be anything that can be done about it.)

Don't forget the Pnecake Festival next Saturday morning at the Fellowship Hall in the Methodist Church from 7 AM to 12 noon. The tariff is 99¢ for all you can eat. Should be fun, folks, and a good way to goof off on Saturday morning while you are out shopping, and you can fill yourself up so that you won't have to work the rest of the day!

Frank Mango at 658-4660 tells me that the Knights of Columbus are having a do, for which tickets may be obtained at DeMoulas, and which will be 'manned' by the wives of the Knights morning, afternoon and evening. Those prizes really sound like they are something, Frank. Call him, if you have any questions, or better still, stop by the booth and see what things are all about with the Knights.

They're going to burn the mortgage at the Methodist Church on Sunday, April 28. The festivities will start with 6 PM with a covered dish supper. The Rev. Terry Clay Thomason and his family, formerly the pastor at the church will be present, and will deliver the address. Call Jane Arnone at 657-7354 and let her know what dish you will bring. The rolls, coffee and dessert are on the house. The Mortgage Burning Service will be at 7 PM.

Junior MYF Gym and Swim night at the Wakefield YMCA will be held on Saturday, May 4, and the cars will be leaving the church parking lot at 7:15 PM $1.00 donation and permission slips should be in by April 28th.

Hear this now, Folks... Don't let Joe do it! Tonight, the 25th, a very important meeting of the VFW is being held at 8:30 PM. Election of Officers, and the Post Commander would like all you Vets there and voting! And on Saturday night the Auxiliary is having their 35th Anniversary Banquet, and they would like to make it a success. It is their pleasure to have you come and to serve you. That's not all... (Wow, these Vets sure are busy!) On Sunday, there is the County meeting.

The Youth Opportunity Council met last week, and it was decided that they would try to do something in the way of helping kids to get jobs in town this summer. So, with the assistance of John Hamilton and Irene Sharp, and the Industries in town, maybe they can make two and two add up to four!

Last week it was Loretta Kalkanajian of the North Wilmington Pharmacy who was home with an injured leg.

This week it is her next door neighbor in the shopping center, Dorothy Burke of the Reading Co-operative Bank branch office.

Dorothy had the misfortune of stepping on a board, on someone's back porch, and having the board break.

She not only got a skinned leg, but a bruised one too, and the doctor is afraid of ulcerating. So far he has prescribed $50 worth of anti-biotics.

William Mulvey, the 10 year old newsboy who was hit by a car on March 12th is finally home. He has been home for 10 days.

He was in a coma for 15 days, and Doctor LePore says he has a fractured skull and broken leg, but is well on the road to recovery.

Eddie Sargent, Water Department Superintendent, was all ready to take a trip to Florida, Monday morning - for a two week's vacation. But he is still in Wilmington!

Joseph Barton, one of the Engineers at the Brown's Crossing Pumping Station was suddenly taken ill, and had to go to the Winchester Hospital, where, it is reported, he is resting comfortably. It's a case of gall bladder trouble.

Did you know that... Leonard Bryant is now a seaman... that Billy Rice doesn't want to call Fort Dix home... that Al Mills is home on leave from Germany, and then he'll be going to Vietnam... and he hasn't stopped in at the Depot to see this gal yet... that the Rainbow Girls want to thank all of you fine folks for buying their candy... and that Alyce Weed is doing well at the Winchester Hospital after her operation. Did you send her a still bo card?... and that the trash is still blowing around the Square and looks awful. What happened to those three pieces of junk and those Spring deep knee bends, which adds up to cleaning up... and that the Town Manager had declared this week and next as Cleanup Wilmington week... Call him, and they will take away rags, bones, bottles, cans, and refrigerators... and even old cars, free... for no. Let's get with it Wilmingtonites... give 'em the cleanup spirit!

Tuesday, April 30, DON'T FORGET TO VOTE!

Selectmen's Meeting

The Board of Selectmen, Monday night, heard of a proposal to construct Suburban Apartment Houses, on Woburn Street, on the Harold Smith property.

Tony Merino, of the office of A & M Fenton Real Estate, told the Selectmen that he had already discussed the construction of the proposed apartments with the Planning Board, and that he wished to keep the Board of Selectmen informed as to the plans. He asked the board to sponsor an article for rezoning of the property, in the next Town Meeting.

Mr Merino had plans of typical Suburban Apartments, such as he proposes to erect. He showed plans of two bedroom apartments, in three story buildings having a total of twelve units.

The board was of one accord that the apartments were necessary for the town, but said that the rezoning was in the hands of the Planning Board.

Residents of Hansen Road were at the meeting, to complain of the non-completion of the street, by the developer, Alex Quandt was the principal spokesman.

They found an enthusiastic response on the part of some of the Selectmen.

The Selectmen were told that the Planning Board had been going to take over the completion of the road on several occasions, using the money in a bankbook which is on deposit to guarantee performance but that the work has not been completed. The developer, they said, had agreed to have the work completed by last fall, and Mr Quandt said it would be winter soon and the work would still be unfinished.

William Stickney, attending as an observer from the Planning Board, told the Selectmen that a letter had been sent to the Developer, warning him that he was in danger of losing the bank book.

The Planning Board, he said, would probably take some action in its meeting of two weeks, on April 30th. They were giving the developer two weeks, to answer the letter.

The bank book, according to Mr Miceli, has $11,000 in it. TM Sterling Morris, with a knowing grin, said 'You're right it's a bankbook, and it's better that way!' (Instead of a bond Ed.)

Four North Wilmington residents were present to protest the work going on in the residential property of the Wilmington Development Company, in North Wilmington. Chairman George Boylen kept a firm hand on the discussion.

The developer, the residents said, was digging a hole in the former Eames property, off Concord Street, and was filling marshy ground, without having had a Hatch Act hearing. Trucks, they said, were working in there every day.

Chairman Boylen said he had a letter from the state Department of Natural Resources, dated April 16th., signed by Arthur Brownell, and that a copy had been sent to the developer. The letter, he said, stated in essence that the construction of the roadway, in a single residence zoned swamp, was in violation of Section 131, Chapter 40, of the General Laws. A Cease and Desist order had been issued by the Department of Natural Resources, Boylen stated, and the Wilmington Development Company had been given until May 1 to state its actual plans, for a Hatch Act hearing, as to what they plan to do in the area. If no action had been taken by the Wilmington Development Company by that time, the letter said, the state Department of Natural Resources would refer the case to the Attorney General of Massachusetts.

The consensus was that the Wilmington Development Company had failed to 'Cease and Desist'.

A memorandum from Building Inspector Roy McClanahan said that a Mr Foley of the Department of Natural Resources had issued the Cease and Desist order, but this was only a minor violation, beyond the approval of the former Hatch Act hearing, and that no earth products were being removed from the site.

A memorandum from the Town Counsel, Alan Altman, said that any action was up to the Attorney General. TM Morris was in accord with this memo.

Joseph Ring, whose Middlesex Avenue property backs up towards the Wilmington Development property, told the Selectmen that if something was not done, there would be a hole 'to China' before May first. There were three gravel trucks working there every day, he said.

George Lingenfelter of Concord Street, who lives across from the site said that it was hard to prove that gravel was being removed from the site, but he felt sure it was. Selectman Banda felt the same way as Lingenfelter, saying that the gravel was too good to be filling a swamp with.

Miceli wanted the Selectmen to urge that the Department of Natural Resources take 'urgent' action, and made a motion that the Wilmington Development Company was in 'flagrant violation' of the Hatch Act.

Boylen stuck to his guns, and reminded the board that the Town Counsel had said it was out of their hands, and in the hands of the Attorney General. He tried to call the Town Counsel.

Banda was in favor of trying to 'prod him (the developer) along' but Miceli insisted that he was exceeding his bounds, and then 'he would take another swing at the Hatch act' and 'here we are, not able to take action'. It seemed, he said, a little ridiculous.

Miceli told the Chairman that: 'if you were operating your business illegally, you wouldn't get a second chance!'

Mrs Norman Pedersen of Federal Street presented a copy of one of Wilmington's new photo maps, borrowed, she said, from Mrs McKie of the Planning Board. There were red lines on the map,

The upshot of the discussion was that George Boylen will consult with the Town Counsel, then call the Department of Natural Resources and the Attorney General's office, if necessary, and then alert Sterling Morris on the results.

Other Business

An application from Smithcraft asked for a license to store fuel oil, and paint solvents, on their land on Industrial Way. A hearing was set for May 6.

A letter from residents of Grant Street asked when their street would be finished. The work started three years ago, the letter said. It was referred to the Town Manager.

Chairman Boylen said that the Benevento Gravel Company had no license to operate, and further said that since April 16th it had been 'operating illegally'. Mrs Drew asked for action, and the case was referred to the Town Manager. Morris said he had sent Officer Charles Dolan of the Wilmington Police Department to take pictures. (Dolan delivered some pictures, at the end of the meeting)

Mrs Ritchie of Kelley Road told the Selectmen that a hole had been dug near her home presumably for a percolation (water) test and that her five year old son Stephen had fallen into it. The youngster was fortunately tall enough to see out of the hole but it took the boy's father and Mr Kavanaugh, a neighbor to get him out of the hole. If it had been a smaller child he may have smothered, she said. The Building Inspector and the Sanitarian are to check.

There was a letter from the and they showed, Mrs Pedersen said, that the Wilmington Development Company was 'already in violation'.

Town Engineer Arthur Harding said that the lines which had been drawn were 'schematic' and not 'engineering lines' and did not necessarily indicate that there was a violation.

Mrs Pedersen said it was simple to her. The Department of Natural Resources had issued a Cease and Desist order, and it was a question of who was going to enforce it.

Bob Mullarky of Middlesex Ave. asked if the Department had issued an order - and then couldn't enforce it? Miceli piped up to say that this was the way it seemed.

Lingenfelter spoke again, to say that the Department could enforce its order.

Middlesex County Commissioners saying that a public hearing would be held on May 24 at 11:45 am at the Court House in East Cambridge, about the proposed railroad siding to cross Woburn Street to the DiCenso development near the Woburn line.

Frank Eisilons of 2 Ridge Road had his name drawn, to serve on Jury Duty, with the Criminal Court in Cambridge.

A letter from a Constable in Billerica, said he was bonded, and would like the approval of the board to serve documents in Wilmington. Mrs Drew opposed, saying that the town already had two constables, and Miceli wanted the Town Counsel to give an opinion, as to procedure, and that there be a copy of the bond, and approval of the Chief of Police.

Board of Appeals Decisions

Recent decisions of the Wilmington Board of Appeals include Case No. 10-68, Appeal of John Lucci 620 Woburn Street, for a variance to erect a sign on premises at 211 Woburn Street.

The hearing was on March 26th. Mr. Lucci appeared before the board, asking for the right to erect a 16 by 16 sign, to be illuminated from the inside, on his premises in the center of the parking lot, and set back 40 feet from the street. The sign, he said, would be for his new grocery, the building of which is now being erected.

He was accompanied by Edward Doucet, who is to erect the sign. He explained that the sign would be of metal and plexi-glass, with plastic letters. It would be custom made, and can be changed from time to time.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell P. Williams of 2 Strout Avenue, Mrs. Carol Frost, 232 Lowell St., appeared in opposition.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams said the sign was too large for a neighborhood business zone, and Mrs. Williams did not want a sign to light up the street. The lights already there were on twenty-four hours a day she said.

Mrs. Frost wanted to know what was meant by 'illumination' and was told by Mr. Doucet that it meant a light that shines on approximately 9 or 10 feet of the area.

Mr. McQuary of 232 Lowell St. was recorded in favor. He thought paper signs, in a store window, were unattractive, and that this proposal was for an attractive sign.

The Jackson Brothers were also recorded in favor, if there was a control, for the time that the lights were on.

William Stickney of the Planning Board, appeared against. He said that an 'off-site' sign was undesirable, and that strict adherence to the Zoning By Law should be enforced, in that the request should be predicated on the frontage of the store, rather than the total property frontage.

The Building Inspector did not agree, saying that measurements for signs are taken on the total frontage of the property, not the square footage of the store involved.

In a later letter the Planning Board said that the sign should be attached to the wall of the building, and that the total area for such a sign should not exceed 1 foot for every hundred square feet of the ground area of the building. It also said the By Law made no provision for a free standing sign.

The Board of Appeals unanimously granted a variance to Mr. Lucci for a sign not to exceed 10 feet by 10 feet, nor to exceed 19 feet in height. The sign must be equipped with an automatic switch to limit the lighting to hours that the store is open for business. The sign must be located in accordance with the plot plan on record, and no external signs may be placed on the building itself.

In Case 17-68, George DiFranco of 22 Summer Street Somerville was granted a variance to erect a building with four feet variance on the side lines, on each side, on Park Street.

The hearing was held on April 9th, and was marked by a dispute as to the side lot lines, with an abuttor, Mr. Harold Radochla.

The chairman of the Board of Appeals asked Mr. DeFranco if he were willing to have the lot surveyed to establish the correct lot line. To this DeFranco agreed. A definite lot line was later established, to the satisfaction of all parties, before the appeal was granted.

In Case 12-68 John Lucci was granted a variance to install an incinerator in the rear of his new store, at 211 Lowell Street. The hearing was held on April 2.

Mr. Glaser, of the Burn-Zol Inc. company appeared and told the Board that the incinerator would be located outside the building, and all burning would be done from inside. The particular model has been approved by the State Board of Health. It will be built of brick, with a 25 foot stack over it. The entire thing will be 31 feet in height. Lucci told the Board that Ernest Romano, of the Wilmington Board of Health, agent, had approved of the proposed incinerator.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Williams of 2 Strout Avenue wanted to know if Mr. Lucci would be the only person to use the incinerator. They were told yes. Mr. Williams wanted to know the distance to the nearest house.

Lucci told the board that the incinerator would be 140 feet from the lot line, and 400 feet from the nearest house. The nearest house is owned by him.

Mrs. Michael Piscatelli said that Mr. Lucci does not live in either of the houses he owns. Lucci said he had already checked, and the tenants were in favor.

To answer another question by Mr. Williams, as to what would be burned, Glaser said the incinerator was equipped to burn paper products and wooden boxes. Garbage and cans would not and could not be burned in this particular incinerator.

Lucci said the incinerator would be operated by gas, and Mr. Glaser told the Board that if an 'afterburner' were installed it would completely curtail any smoke. The cost of the afterburner would be $350.

Lucci was asked by the chairman if he would object to having to install an afterburner. Lucci had no objections.

In a written report the Wilmington Planning Board objected. The area, they said, was bounded on three sides by Single Residence A zoning, and the establishment of an incinerator in such an area does not 'promote the health, safety and

Planning Board

The Wilmington Planning Board Tuesday night had a one and a half hour conference with Professor Eliot, its planning consultant, and TM Sterling Morris, together with Principal Assessor Anthony Krzminski, concerning the possible effects of the proposed Official

Map of Wilmington.

Much of the conversation was to the effect on property values. William Stickney, noting that only two municipalities in Massachusetts have an Official Map, asked if it was common in other states. TM Morris told him that it was 'Definitely so in Maine - almost a requirement there'.

Eliot submitted answers to the questions that had been prepared two weeks ago, by the chairman, Mrs Madelyn McKie.

Mrs McKie, at the close of the conversation, gave Eliot the proposed new Sub-Division Regulations, prepared by his predecessor, Sam Snow of Lexington, and asked him to submit comments.

Town Engineer Arthur Harding reported that a hole had been dug near Nunn Road, by people from the Soil Conservation Service, in making a test of the soil. The question immediately arose - was this the hole of which there had been a complaint, in the Selectmen's meeting of the night before.

Harding, in reply to questions from Professor Eliot, said that he had, during the recent flood, painted markers on many culverts, etc., showing the level of the high water.

Morris, talking to Mrs McKie and the members of the board, said it was very nice to have a member of the Planning Board at the Selectmen's Meeting, and that Mr. Stickney had done a good job, the night before. There should be, he said, more communication of this type, between the various boards.

Some of the Selectmen, he thought, were in the dark about the proposed Official Map, and he would like them to attend a Planning Board meeting to have it explained.

He also thought that the Planning Board should work for a quick solution of the problem of Hanson Road. 'I know you are trying to be fair to the residents, and to the builder - but I hope you can see your way clear to foreclose on the builder'.

Morris also hoped to see a joint meeting of boards, soon, to have a 'work session' with the Wilmington Redevelopment Authority.

Alderwood Estates

The board had a forty minute conversation with Atty Eugene Tougas of Waltham, about Section 3 of Alderwood Estates, which the board had recently turned down a 'modification' proposed by the developer.

Tougas was seeking to have the Planning Board grant a Conditional Approval, in order that he may go to other boards, and get their approval for Section 3, as it is proposed to be modified.

The developer, he said, and Danny Gillis agreed, had a valid and approved set of plans for Section 3, as things are now.

What Tougas wanted to do was to modify the plans for the drainage. This, in effect, he said, would make a development of which Hydraulic Engineers could more easily approve.

As Tougas demonstrated his arguments on a map, there is at the present time a difference of seven feet elevation, between a point on Kenwood Avenue, extended into the third section, and a point in the brook that drains into Foley's Field, at a point approximately one quarter of a mile east of West Street. Tougas wants to change that (proposed in a Hatch Act hearing some weeks ago) so that the difference in elevation would be four feet, with ditches, etc dug into the ground.

He also proposed the construction of two drains, or the dry-well type, near the point where Kenwood Avenue would meet the right of way for the West Street watermain, and have the water collected there drain into the proposed ditch. The ditch itself, as proposed in the Hatch Act hearing of a few weeks ago, would be changed to follow lot lines, instead of being piped underground, at the street, for a distance of several hundred feet.

'You are not going to get more water into the field this way than if you go ahead with the original plan' Tougas said.

Secretary Emil Berger wanted to know if the original plan of 1962 was still valid. Gillis said it was.

Berger: Without going through the Hatch Act?

Tougas: Yes (pointing) for this area, but for efficiency and efficacy, it will not be as well received by hydraulic engineers.

Tougas explained that he wanted to appear before the Department of Natural Resources, but that he could not, as long as the Planning Board's refusal was in force. The Department, he said, would not talk to him.

It would be necessary, he said, for the Planning Board to give an approval, conditionally, and thus allow him to carry his arguments on to the other boards.

The Board understood Tougas, but was doubtful about the argument that the Dept. of Natural Resources would not listen. They called the Town Counsel for an opinion, which, delivered later, (by telephone) said that the Town Counsel did not necessarily agree, but understood how the Department might be reluctant to listen to cases which had not been fully decided by local Planning Boards. The Town Counsel and the Planning Board are to exchange written communications on the question later.

Tougas said that 'if we do not obtain approval under the Hatch Act, then we bounce back to the original plan of 1962.'

He referred to Section 40, Chapter 131, of the General Laws.

AVCO'S Computation Center

Howard and Priscilla Cox, 31 High Street, both work in the Computation Center. Priscilla is a key punch operator and her husband is a machine operator.

Mrs. Robert Given (foreground) of Mystic Avenue, and Mrs. William Finney, 7 Jacquith Road, are shown at work in the key punch room of Avco's Computer Center.

Gerald Peters, 7 Harvard Avenue, is a machine operator. He is shown operating the System/360, Model 75, largest of IBM's current commercial computers.

On the road to Woburn, which some people call Route 38, and others call Main Street, is an inconspicuous sign. It points to the back parking lot of the huge Avco plant, and says, at the top 'Avco Employee Parking'.

That's as far as the average motorist ever gets to read.

The next two words are: Computation Center.

Among other things, Uncle Avco has one of the largest computer centers in New England, and the average Wilmington resident not only doesn't know of this, but perhaps does not care.

There are over 30,000 Massachusetts residents who are currently involved in the young and burgeoning field of the computer industry. The same estimates show that between 25 and 30 persons are employed in a typical computer service bureau - which is an operation that provides computer facilities and operations to a customer for a fee.

In contrast Avco keeps nearly 200 persons employed in its computer center and in related data processing departments.

The Avco Computer Center is a complete 'one stop' operation, for over 150 companies which have no computer of their own, or organizations that have smaller, slower computers that might bog down in long scientific computation.

And next year the Avco Computer Center will become the first New England operation to install IBM's latest computer, the System/360, Model 85.

The most powerful computer now offered by IBM, the Model 85 can carry out instructions at a maximum rate of 12.5 million per second!

For example, it can multiply two ten-digit numbers at a rate of more than two million complete calculations a second - a task that would take a person using pencil and paper about 38 years of non-stop work. The buffer memory, which holds large blocks of data ready for immediate use, by the central processing unit, operates in 80-billionths of a second.

Services For Roger Luken

Roger Luken, one of the more brilliant graduates of Wilmington High School in recent years, was killed, about 6 pm Sunday, at Smith College, Northampton, Mass.

Luken, who was recently appointed the head of Arts and Sciences at Smith College, was superintending the new stage, preparing for the first play, to be performed in June, when a new advanced type of stage machinery, designed for painting scenery, collapsed and fell on him.

The play was to have been 'The Seagull' and the opening was being planned for June.

Luken was a National Merit Scholar of the Class of 1960, Wilmington High School. Instead of accepting the offered scholarship he accepted one offered by Vanderbilt University, in Tennessee, from where he went to Yale, with a two year fellowship in the Yale School of English and Drama.

After completing his work at Yale he received his Smith College appointment, but never had a chance to stage a play of his own.

Delegations were present from both Vanderbilt and Yale, at the memorial services held in Northampton, on Monday. The body was cremated, but his eyes were donated to science, and have already been transplanted into another person.

Roger Luken was born in Newport, RI on December 13, 1942, the son of Mr and Mrs Francis B Luken. Mr Luken at the time was in active service with the US Coast Guard. The family moved to their present address, 5 North Street, in 1953.

In addition to his family he is survived by his widow, the former Margalee Ulrich, of Nashville, Tennessee, an alumna of Vanderbilt University, whom he met there.

ter; and her six sisters, Mrs Grace Bourbeau, Mrs Olive Brabant, Mrs Nellie Thompson and Mrs Clara Parker, all of Wilmington, Mrs Mary Cosgrove of Lawrence and Mrs Florence Cox of Quincy. 24 grandchildren and 7 great grandchildren survive her.

The funeral services were held at the Wilmington Methodist Church on April 24th at 2 pm with the Rev. Willis P Miller officiating. Burial was in the family lot in Wildwood Cemetery, with the Rev. Mr. Miller offering the committal prayers.

Pall bearers for Mrs Miller were her grandsons, Edgar Miller Jr., Charles Miller, Richard Cole and Edward Cole.

Funeral arrangements were by the W S Cavanaugh & Son Funeral Home of Wilmington.

wood Cemetery, with the Rev. Mr. Miller officiating. Pallbearers were Francis Rudolph, Robert Ramsdell, Frank Ramsdell and Almon Ramsdell.

Funeral arrangements were by the Nichols Funeral Home.

Ladies' Night at Lions Club

April 17th was Ladies Night, at the Wilmington Lions Club. The ladies were invited to a delicious chicken dinner, and dancing and entertainment followed.

The first Ladies Night was so well received that it is certain to be followed by more. The speaker of the evening was Don Locke of Burlington, Deputy District Governor, who spoke on 'What Lionism Means to Me'.

The Fund Raising Committee has announced plans for another of its successful 'Gas Station Days' to add to the club's treasury, and enable it to carry on with the Eye Research Program, and allied Lion's Charities.

Under this program a local gas station turns over the operation of the station for a full day to the Lions, whose members pump gas, sell oil, wash cars, staff a cake sale table, white elephant table, etc and sell raffle tickets for lovely useful gifts.

This year the Gas Station Day is to be held Sunday May 26, at Frank's Amoco Station, on Main Street (Route 38). The committee will make further announcement as soon as the planning is completed.

The Wilmington Lions Club wishes to thank all the residents in town who so generously supported their recent bulb drive. Anyone who still wishes to obtain bulbs, brooms, or towels are asked to call Anthony DeLuca at 658-8663 or Rene LaRivee at 658-3556.

The funds raised by this drive and the other Lions activities enabled the Wilmington club to do the following during the past year: Donate to Care; Conduct a pre-school eye examination clinic; Donate $1000 to Mass Eye Res. Foun Purchase and distribute food baskets to the needy in town; Give every blind resident of town an Xmas gift; Send packages to all Will Servicemen in VietNam. Pay for eye exams, eyeglasses and eye operations for the town's needy; support local, state and national charity and medical drives; Aid various youth activities in town; Give two scholarships to Will High School grads. The above is only a partial listing of the many activities the local Lions Club has engaged in during the past year, and with the continued support of the townspeople, they hope to do more in the coming year.

HELEN MILLER PASSED AWAY SUNDAY

Mrs Helen F (Robinson) Miller, wife of the late Charles E Miller, of 7 Deming Way, died at the Choate Memorial Hospital in Woburn Sunday, after a short illness.

71 years old, she was born in Bradford but had lived in Wilmington most of her life.

She was a Past Noble Grand of the Elizabeth Whitefield Lodge of Rebekahs, and a late member of the WSCS of the Wilmington Methodist Church, and the Willima Tattersall DAV Auxiliary, and a member of the Wilmington Golden Age Club.

Mrs Miller is survived by five children, Mrs Helen Cole, Edgar and Harold Miller, all of Wilmington, Harry Miller of Woburn, and Mrs Harriet Lombard of Winches-

Today, thanks to what has been done, yellow fever is a rare disease in humans, even in its two great natural reservoirs, the African and South American tropics. But in these places, beyond any chance of complete extinction, the virus persists in the monkeys and mosquitoes that live in the tree-tops.

No drug will cure yellow fever. However, the North American who would like to make a safari into 'darkest' Africa or take a trip up the Amazon has nothing to worry about if he has had yellow fever vaccine first. The vaccination certificate is good for six years.

This is one indication of what a good vaccine we have against yellow fever. It wears well!

div suit waged for the widow's hand by Mr. Albert W. Ryerson.

This began nearly two years ago, and has continued intermittently ever since.

Mr. Ryerson, it appears, is a commercial traveller. Years ago, when he was a mere stripling, he drove a baker's cart in Wilmington, and in that way obtained a speaking acquaintance with Mrs. Hiller.

"That is the full extent," said Mrs. Hiller, yesterday, "of our relations."

"But for the last two years he has fostered me unceasingly."

Last fall he was in California and had the impertinence to write me a proposal of marriage. Of course I paid no heed to it.

"I have ignored him, but it has been impossible, so it seems, to get rid of him."

On being told what Mr. Ryerson had said concerning his relations with her Mrs. Hiller grew excited, and exclaimed:

"What! He says I offered him $100,000 in a lump sum and $200 a month for life if he would marry me? He said that, did he? And he says he refused because he loves a Detroit girl? And I am going to marry my coachman just to spite him?"

Mrs. Hiller threw open her fur sack, took a long, deep breath, passed her jewelled fingers over her flushed face, and continued:

"And he says I have been making advances to him? And that I hung my arms around him one evening in the carriage and said, 'Oh, I want to elope with some one! Please, elope with me?' He says I said that? Do you suppose I would marry a little, puny, dried-up fellow like him?"

Having explained all the facts in the case as above stated, Mrs. Hiller asked THE GLOBE reporter's advice as to the best method of announcing her engagement in the other newspapers. He thereupon wrote the formal announcement, which was submitted to her counsel, and by him sent out to the other Boston papers.

WORE NO JEWELS.

The floral decorations were of a very elaborate character, and the house was trimmed with ferns, cut flowers and tropical plants. At the church there was a small display of flowers. In the centre of the church was a mammoth floral bell, and the altar and altar rail were covered with flowers.

The ceremony was to have taken place at 2 o'clock, but it was after 3, when the wedding party arrived at the church. Mrs. Hiller was attired in a white satin dress, cut en train, with an empire ruffle from the point of the waist over the shoulders to the back. The bottom was trimmed with a ruffle of white ribbon.

The bridal veil was very long, and was fastened in her hair with a silver pin. This was the only article of jewelry that she wore, as one of the conditions of the dispensation which allowed her to be married at the church was that she should make no display of her collection of jewels, of which she is so proud. At her neck she had a bunch of lilies of the valley, and in her hand she carried a bouquet of the same flowers.

While arrayed like this, and before the procession started for the church, a photographer was called in and her picture was taken in several positions. Then she had her picture taken while standing beside her husband, who was dressed in a cutaway coat, dark trousers and white satin vest.

All of this was taking time, and the crowd at the church and the immense throng in front of the house were increasing in numbers all the time. Mrs. Hiller made no noise of the fleeting time. The coaches were waiting to take the party to the church, and the crowd commented on the style of the carriages.

The coach that was to take Mrs. Hiller to the church was drawn by four milk white steeds, and the dozen other carriages were drawn by

Two White Horses Each.

When, after the long wait, the procession at last started, the immense throng made fast time for the church at St. Thomas. Drivers whipped up their horses in their efforts to head off the procession, while the hundreds who were not the fortunate owners of a team and had not the wherewith to hire, sprinted along at a lively gallop.

The choice places had been taken long before, however, and the church, save for the seats reserved for the members of the wedding party, had been filled for a couple of hours.

Nothing like it had been ever seen in Wilmington. Sunday devotions were forgotten and the town took on a holiday air. The white horses seemed to feel that they were at no usual occasion, and champed their bits with a proud toss of the head.

As the carriages drew up in front of the church, a small frame structure at Mrs. Hiller has just had frescoed, the guests stepped off on to a long stretch of carpet that ran into the church.

The bride and groom were the last to enter, having been immediately preceded by the bridesmaids and best man, Mr. William J. Cleary.

Miss Rose Kelly, dressed in white satin, was the bridesmaid, and she was accompanied by little Miss Margaret Day, the maid of honor, who looked charming in a gown of blue satin. In her hand she carried a bouquet of roses, and as she left the church she distributed these to the ladies in the party.

The ushers were Dr. Alexander I. Brown, Messrs. George Moulton, George Wade, T. Foley, Howard F. Lewis and Arthur B. Eames.

Music was furnished by the choir and Mr. James H. Murphy, who sang "O Salutaris Hostia."

Rev. Fr. J. J. Ryan of Andover performed the ceremony, which was of the usual character. Previous to the ceremony, the regular vespers service was performed.

A great deal of interest was manifested in the manner in which Mr. Hiller was to conduct himself. Whatever their expectations, those present saw a good-looking young man with a black mustache. He conducted himself in an unembarrassed manner, and gave the responses in a firm, clear voice.

Mrs. Hiller suffered from her sprain, and had to be assisted to and from the altar, and was to the carriage.

On the way out the throng which was waiting on the outside could no longer restrain itself, and let out a mighty cheer. Mrs. Hiller has done a great deal for the town, having aided many projects, and for this reason, coupled with what they deem her eccentricities, the people take great interest in all her movements.

Once in the carriages the party was driven to the house, where a reception and collation was given.

Mrs. Hiller could not attend to the duties of receiving her guests, for as she entered the house she fainted from the pain which she had been suffering all the day, and which up to now she had battled successfully against. She was removed to her room and was attended by a physician.

She swooned twice, and then a sleeping potion was administered, and she slept during the reception. Her place was filled, however, by Miss Catherine Eames and Mrs. James Kelly, who were to have assisted in receiving, and on whom all of this duty now devolved.

The reception continued as though nothing had happened. The collation was served in the dining-room, while in the parlors Mr. James H. Murphy and Mr. Philip Peters entertained the guests with duets and solos.

The wedding presents, which were numerous and costly, were displayed in the front parlor. Many of them were from friends in distant parts of the country.

Owing to the accident, the contemplated wedding tour will be postponed.

THREE TIMES A BRIDE.

Mrs. Hiller Weds Her Young Love at Wilmington.

WILMINGTON, April 3.—Henry Hiller and Frances Hiller, M.D., were married Sunday by Rev. J. J. Ryan of Andover. The ceremony was performed in St. Thomas' church at 2 o'clock p.m. The wedding procession consisted of 14 hacks drawn by iron gray horses. The bride rode in a landau, to which were attached four iron grays with magnificent trappings. This peculiar feature is an English custom, according to Mrs. Hiller. At the close of the nuptials the special guests and townspeople proceeded to the house where a reception was held. The couple will make an extended tour in Florida, after which they will be "at home" in Wilmington. Mr. Hiller will attend Harvard College, so Mrs. Hiller says, when he shall have acquired a better understanding of the English language.

Mrs. Hiller was attired in a white satin dress cut en train with an empire ruffle from the point of the waist over the shoulders to the back. The bottom was trimmed with a ruffle of white ribbon.

The bridal veil was very long and was fastened in her hair with a silver pin. This was the only article of jewelry that she wore, as one of the conditions of the dispensation which allowed her to be married at the church was that she would make no display of her collection of jewels, of which she is so proud. At her neck she had a bunch of lilies of the valley, and in her hand she carried a bouquet of the same flowers.

Hiller Was Not Embarrassed.

A great deal of interest was manifested in the manner in which Mr. Hiller was to conduct himself. Whatever their expectations, those present saw a good-looking young man with a black mustache. He conducted himself in an unembarrassed manner, and gave the responses in a firm, clear voice.

He was dressed in a full dress suit, white vest, handsomely embroidered, patent leather shoes and a tall silk hat. After his picture was taken he joked with his former fellow-workmen for a while, then entered the house and did not come out again until

MRS. HILLER'S HOUSE.

MRS HILLER'S HOUSE, from an old drawing. Notice the greenhouse in back.

It had a pool for her pet alligators, a gas plant, to provide gas for the lighting of the home (this back in 1880!), a fountain in front, near the carved granite steps (fountain not in this picture), and the doors were painted with gold leaf. There were murals on the walls, and in the front room (now the office of Atty Alan Altman, Town Counsel) a mirror was on the ceiling, so that she could lie down in her casket and, peeking through half-closed eyes, see how should would look in the $10,000 coffin.

The home stood adjacent to the Bedell Brothers Insurance Agency, (which she built as an office for Henry Hiller II), but has since been moved to the back of the Middlesex County National Bank lot.

Among the more sensational of the statements made was that, after a three year honeymoon, around the world, her new husband would attend Harvard College, where he would learn to read and write.

Some of the statements made by the Boston newspapers were not necessarily true, in the account which follows, but the wedding was a real sensation.

Mrs Hiller died in 1901, and was accorded a tremendous funeral. Henry Hiller died about a dozen years ago, still a resident of Wilmington.

BOARD OF APPEAL

general welfare' of the inhabitants of the area, not to mention 'lessen the danger from fire'.

The question of hardship, the Planning Board said, is not a factor, because there are more desirable ways of getting rid of rubbish. The granting of the variance, the Planning Board felt, would derogate from the purpose of the Zoning By Law.

Ernest Romano, Director of Public Health, in turn, sent the Board of Appeals a copy of an opinion by former Town Counsel Philip B. Buzzell, dated Nov. 15, 1965, which said in effect that he did not believe that the section (of law) was intended to apply to a small scale burning by an industrial business establishment - However, it should be added, the letter said, that even on a small scale - such an operation which creates a health problem can be dealt with by the board, under its general powers, quite apart from the zoning by-law provisions.

The Board of Appeals turned down an appeal by George Morey and John E. DeLoury, to remove gravel from land off Andover St. The decisions was dated April 23rd, and the case was heard on April 2nd, being Case No. 14-68.

The two men operate an earth moving business, and had appeared before the board for a permit to remove gravel, instead of 'acting first' as one of them said.

They were represented by Atty Frederick Conroy of Lexington.

The Planning Board had signed an approval of the two lots of land, Mr Conroy said. One is of 1.6 acres and the other 1.9. The two men, he said, proposed to excavate gravel, in order to build homes. The grade level of property on Andover Street is 100 feet. The lot point is at 112 feet, to a 120 foot grade. The adjacent Carlson property has been excavated three times, to build a house, for a back yard, and to build a garage.

If the two lots were excavated, Conroy said, the grade level would be the same as the Carlson property, 12 feet above street grade.

The chairman asked if the homes could be built with the lots in their natural state, Mr Conroy said it would not be practical.

The chairman asked how many cubic yards of fill there was in the area. Mr DeLoury said approximately 20,000 yards. Messrs Morey and DeLoury were willing to post a bond, to guarantee a clean operation.

William Stickney of the Planning Board opposed. The area, he said, was suitable for homes without any gravel removal, and it appeared to the Planning Board that that the material is to be removed not for building purposes, but for the purpose of selling gravel. The Planning Board, he said, had unanimously voted to deny the variance.

The Planning Board, he further said, suggests that if a permit to remove gravel is granted in this case, it will be very difficult to say no to future gravel operations.

Ernest Jamison of the Board of Appeals asked the appellants if they still wanted building permits, if the variance to remove gravel were denied. The answer was yes.

Mrs Landry, 420 Andover Street, and Mr Carlson, 404 Andover Street, abutted, were recorded in favor of the variance to remove gravel.

The Board of Appeals viewed the property on April 6th.

They voted unanimously to grant a variance that would divide the land into two house lots, but denied unanimously the request to remove earth products in excess of the amount required for the normal construction of a dwelling and accessory uses. It was clear, the board said, that a hardship was not proved.

On April 23 Anthony and Valerie Grenier, of 14 Dell Drive were granted a variance to erect a car port closer to the lot line than the law allows. The case, No. 15-68, was heard on April 9th.

The carport will be one foot from the property line.

The neighbors had written a letter to the board, saying that they had no objection, and it was shown that the car port could not be built elsewhere, because of ledge.

SELECTMEN

Miceli told the board that 'Maybe we can't legally turn him down'. The board voted to buy a new typewriter for the secretary, Mrs O'Rourke.

New Business

Selectman Banda reported that a drain, installed by the town, was draining water onto the land of John DePlano, on Middlesex Ave. It was referred to the TM.

Miceli commented on the Photon cars not using the driveway. Banda said it seemed they were running over the lawn and the curbing. The Town Engineer is to investigate.

Boyle brought up some 'Old, old Business - Sidewalks on Frove Avenue'. The TM said they were to be rebuilt this summer.

The TM reminded the board of Clean Up Week, for two weeks, starting on April 22. The Town Trucks would pick up anything left by the roadside for them - old junk, cans, cars, equipment, etc. and for residents to call the Town Garage - 658 - 4481.

The Memorial Day Committee reported by letter that they had empowered the three Commanders of the Veterans Posts to sign bills, for the Memorial Day Observance, which are to be paid by the town.

PLANNING BOARD

Right of Way

The signing of an ordinary 'Approval Not Required' plan, for land off Salem Street, took up twenty five minutes of the board's time.

The plan was for the Todd land on Salem Street, and it differed from the Tax Map of Wilmington in that it showed a ten foot right of way, on land adjacent, which right of way was not on the tax map.

Both Gillis and Mrs McKie were disturbed at this, wondering if they might be creating a right-of-way where none exists now.

The Town Engineer told them that they were not creating a right-of-way, and that the only portion of the plan that they were really signing was for the portion in the 'hard' lines. The right-of-way was shown with dotted lines.

Finally the board voted. It was four to one, in favor of signing, with Gillis dissenting.

Other Business

Stickney told the Board of the actions of the Selectmen, Monday night, relative to Hanson Road. The board voted to place the rad on the agenda for their next meeting, and asked for a resume of the history of the development, for their use.

Town Engineer Arthur Harding said that he had refused to allow a road-oil truck to put oil on Hanson Road, Monday, on short notice. The truck had been putting down oil on Ferguson Road, and proposed to go on to Hanson Road.

He told the board he required a three day notice, in order that he could check the levels and the grade stakes. He had then gone down to Hanson Road for a look. There were no grade stakes in position, he said.

Stickney read a draft of a letter he had written to the Board of Appeals, asking that a proposed trucking terminal off Ballardvale Street be denied.

He also spoke of the means in which appeals are directed to the Board of Appeals.. Mrs McKie appointed herself to look into the statutes governing such appeals.

Mrs McKie reported to the board that the proposal to meet every other week, made a few weeks ago, was not valid at this time.

INFORMATION ON THE TOWN DUMP

The Wilmington Town Dump is located in the southerly part of the town, off Main Street, and adjacent to the Woburn City Line. The land is owned by Mr Clarence Spinazola, who is also the contractor.

The Wilmington Board of Health is the contracting agency for the town, and supervises the operation of the dump.

The contractor is allowed to burn once weekly. Garbage is not allowed at the dump and therefore should not be mixed in with the rubbish. The contract also excludes boulders, trees, and wrecked buildings. These, however, will be accepted on a private contract basis with the owner.

Wood, and Metal, must be separated from regular household rubbish. Dumping out of town rubbish, or waste, is strictly forbidden.

The dump is open Tuesdays through Sundays from 9:00 AM to 4:00 PM, but is closed on Mondays, and on legal holidays

Trucks or vehicles used for transporting rubbish should be tight, and securely covered with a canvas or other suitable cover to prevent the scattering of rubbish about the streets, on on private premises.

The town does not collect rubbish. It is the responsibility of the homeowner to make provisions for the collection

Rubbish may not be used for fill, without the prior approval of the Board of Health.
